*East Wilkes High School
Ronda, North Carolina*

He's All Right!!

This teacher leads, helps, understands, and is our friend. He accepts people for what they are, and in his classes, students are people.

He constantly gives us ideas, but expects us to form our own opinions. The basis for his classes seems to be, "The important thing is not what you think, but that you think!" He can be found in the middle of a class discussion, defending first one position then the other, smoking, drinking coffee, and wrestling with the boys. Although his classes are very informal, students can expect to learn and enjoy history.

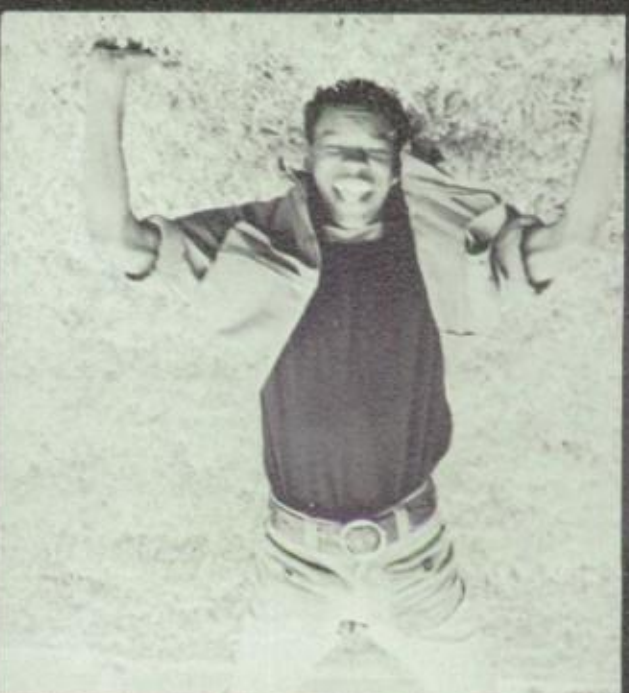

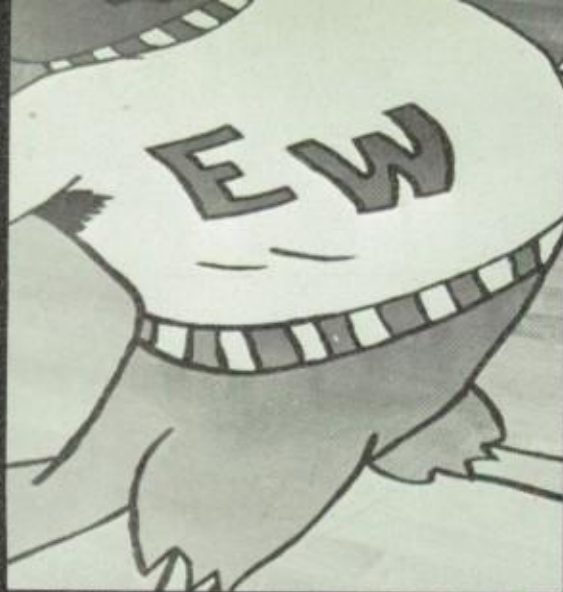

The 1973 East Wind staff is proud to dedicate this annual to Harold D. Johnson.

East Has Happy People

After the queen was crowned at half-time, she and her court were taken off the football field on a float (right), which was built by the students of East. Much time and effort was spent in building the float.

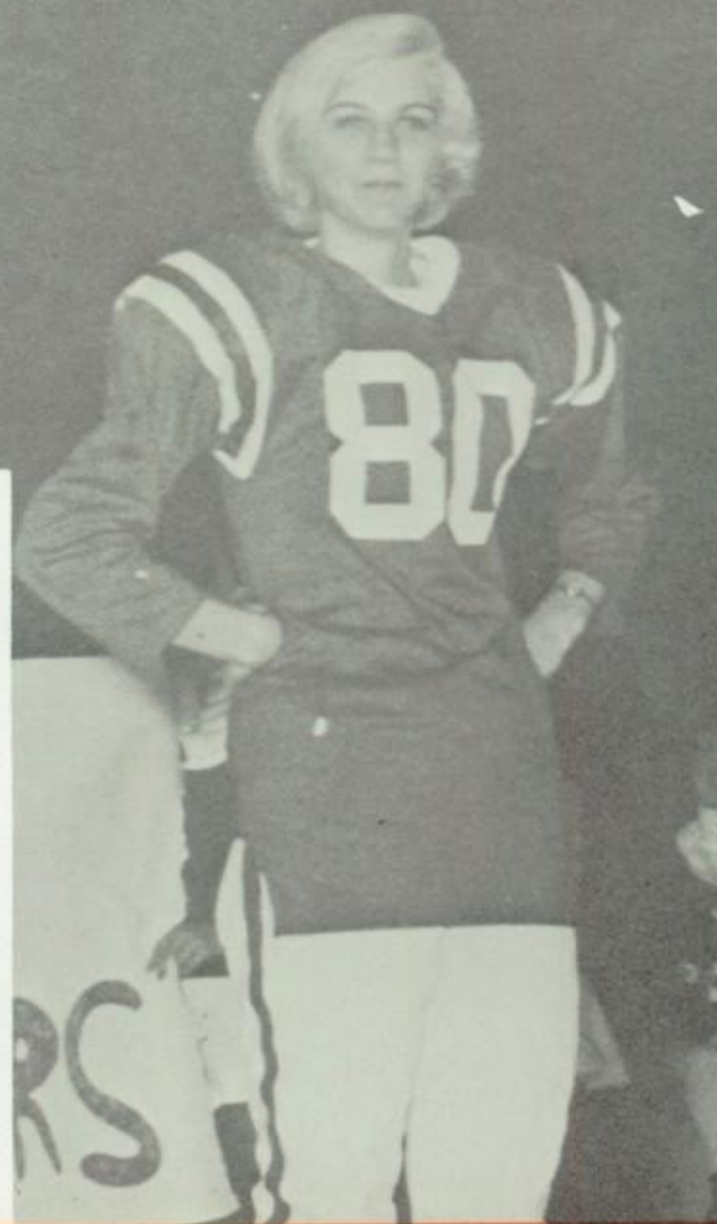

East Has A Victorious Homecoming

East had a victorious homecoming this year with a beautiful queen and court. West was our opponent, and we had an easy win. The score was 14-6.

ACADEMICS

With the key known as determination, students at East Wilkes are able to unlock doors to unlimited opportunities. The new and interesting courses at East allow students to choose subjects that will interest them most, and be of value to them. All students work to develop values and skills that will help them in their personal and family lives, as well as the world of work.

Faculty members serve as the pacesetters in the search for knowledge. It is through their motivation and personal assistance that the students at East receive the kind of education they need. East's faculty makes each day a little easier by the application of genuine interest in students, knowledge, and experience.

The students at East have a feeling of togetherness with the faculty. This feeling is necessary to make a school complete.

This is education for each and every student at East.

Administration Opens Doors To Success

It takes people willing to work hard to make East operate properly. Our administration has been working diligently to make East the kind of school that students, parents, and teachers want.

Wilkes County School Board members seated (right) are: Charles P. Bentley, Asst. Superintendent; C.W. Bradburn, Superintendent; Rex Whittington, Asst. Superintendent.

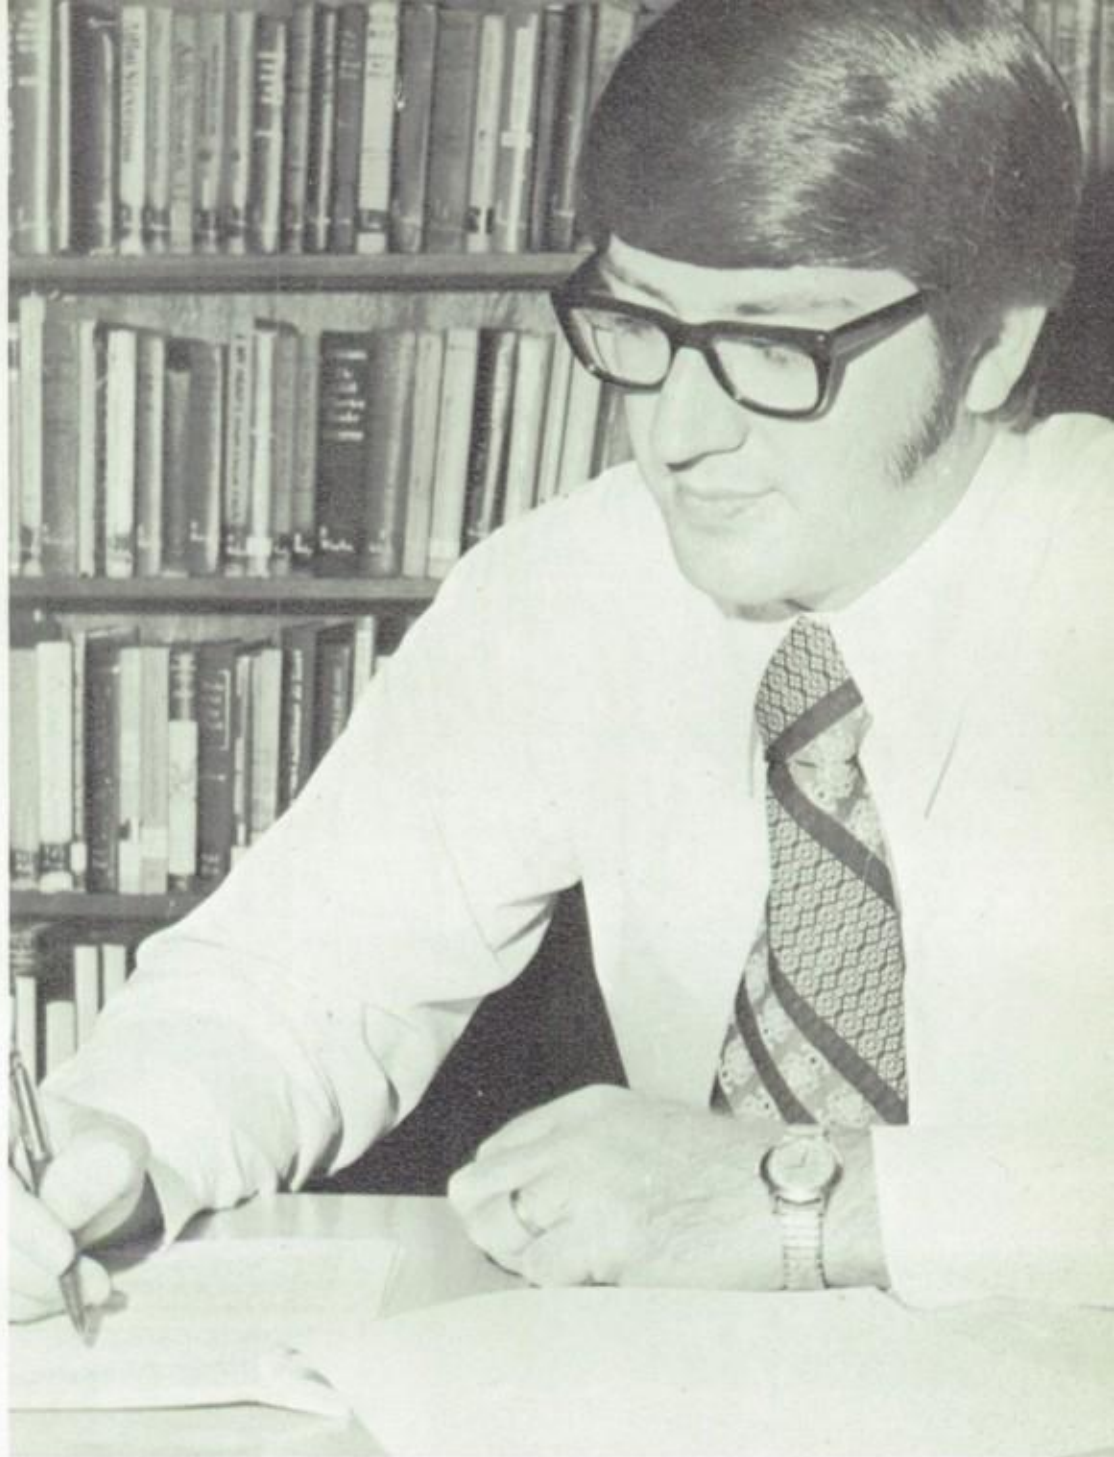

East's Administration Works For Young People

Behind a successful school there must be a successful administration. Mr. Reavis, Mr. Keel, and Mr. Younger are just this. They have succeeded in making East one of the finest schools in our area. Each student is treated as an individual. These men strive to make each day one that students will enjoy. Appreciation for these men is great, and gratitude is overwhelming.

Office Staff And Local Board

Mrs. Holleman and Mrs. Moore are always busy making the office operate effectively. Their daily routine consists of taking care of financial matters, typing, and other important duties.

The East Wilkes Local Board meets quarterly. They strive for a better quality of education. These individuals are important to our administration.

Mrs. Joy Moore and Mrs. Virginia Holleman (above) discuss some of the business problems that face them on a busy day.

Library Supplies Steps To Higher Learning

Our library has grown considerably in the last year to supply all the needs of our students at East. We have acquired new visual aid equipment and books to help progress our education. Mrs. Calloway and Mrs. Cook are always on hand to give aid to us, and they do a splendid job. Anytime a student needs help with research work, or simply finding a book, they can rely on one of these ladies, or a students assistant to be there willing to help. As time passes, students realize that hours spent in deep concentration and hard work may help determine how successful they are.

Mrs. Eva Calloway (top) assembles and checks book index cards. This is only a small part of her daily routine.

Mr. Walker (right) explains a point in English.

A Variety Of English Courses Adds Interest To Classes

With the addition of new semester courses, students are given a variety which to choose from. The new courses offered include: Horror and Suspense, Speech and Drama, Future Shock, Frontier Tales, Humor and Romance, Who Am I?, and Sports Writing. With this variety to choose from, students are able to select courses that they feel will help them most in later life. Teachers and students work side by side to make each class educational, interesting, and fun.

Mrs. Anne Surratt (right) lectures to her class.

A new addition to the faculty is Mrs. Belinda Miles (below right). The students are very fortunate to have her as a Horror and Suspense teacher.

New Courses Are Offered In The Home Ec. Department

Our Home Economics Department isn't simply sewing and cooking. This year it includes the usual courses of Home Ec. and Family Living, but offers new courses in Interpersonal Relations and Child Development, and Home Arts and Crafts. Students in these classes learn to get along with others, to better understand themselves, and they also learn the art of homemaking.

Mrs. Tharpe (opposite page, top) discusses a Home Ec. project.

Boys Receive Valuable Training To Agriculture

In our well-equipped Agriculture Department, the young men here at East receive valuable training for the future. Such skills as carpentry, masonry, and welding are among the many that are acquired. Mr. Walker and Mr. Bunker work many long hours to make East's Agriculture Department the best in the county. Boys receive training in the classroom and are given a chance to put their education to practical use. Putting this training to practical use includes building and mending articles, care and repair of small engines, land judging, livestock judging, plant and animal production, and helping with small building projects around the school.

History: A Collage of Impressions From The Past

Whether it's debating on world problems, discussing the Vietnam war, or just a discussion on American politics, the History Department at East Wilkes has covered it all. In addition to history, our Social Studies Department offers such courses as American Sociology, Lives of the Presidents, Environmental Problems, Law and Justice, Practical Psychology, and Human Relations.

Mrs. Middleton makes preparations for a day in class (opposite page, top).

Business Prepares Students For Life In Today's World

Business classes render valuable experience to students at East. Mrs. Layell and Miss Adams try each day to inform students about how the business world is progressing. The contribution of these classes is greatly appreciated here at East. Each day explorations are made into the areas of typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, money management, journalism, and office practice. These classes are available for anyone — whether they are business-minded or just simply wish to round out their academic schedules. Training in this field opens up many job opportunities for future life.

Mrs. Layell and Miss Adams (bottom left) discuss one of the many problems that arise in the business world.

Peggy White (bottom right) assist office staff for two hours daily as part of her office practice training.

Science: The Understanding Of Our World

Under the direction of Mr. Jack Elledge, Mr. Dennis Martin, and Mr. David Sidden the search for knowledge begins. The first step in this search is curiosity. Curiosity is aroused by courses such as Physical Science and Introduction to Biology. In these courses, students learn the fundamentals of science. In courses such as Advanced Science, Advanced Biology, Environmental Problems, and Chemistry, students are allowed to do in depth study in areas of their interest. Science has become increasingly important in today's world. It's a subject that must change each day because the world is continually changing. Our teachers strive to make our science department up-to-date and interesting.

Mathematics Is Essential To Everyday Living

Equations, graphing, and simple math are all part of a mathematical world. These skills are necessary for our society to grow and progress. You can expect to learn these skills because we have an excellent mathematics department. Many methods are used to get across the different concept in Math. Logic games, charts, and individual help are all used to aid the students. Individual progress is also used so that all students can learn at their own rates. Mr. Heruska, the newest member of the math department, teaches Geometry and Algebra. Mr. Younger teaches Advanced Math and Algebra II. Mr. Elledge teaches Basic Math. East is very happy to be able to say that it has one of the most complete and thorough math programs in the surrounding district.

Drafting Demands Concentration

Drafting is a division of the Trade and Industrial Education Training Program. It gives the student training for careers, but most of all it provides a background to inspire the student to continue his education in this field. Mr. Horton is the director of this course. He strives each day to teach the basic fundamentals and techniques in reading blueprints, making rough sketches, translating ideas, and constructing simple drawings. Students enjoy these classes very much. Both fun and educational techniques are used.

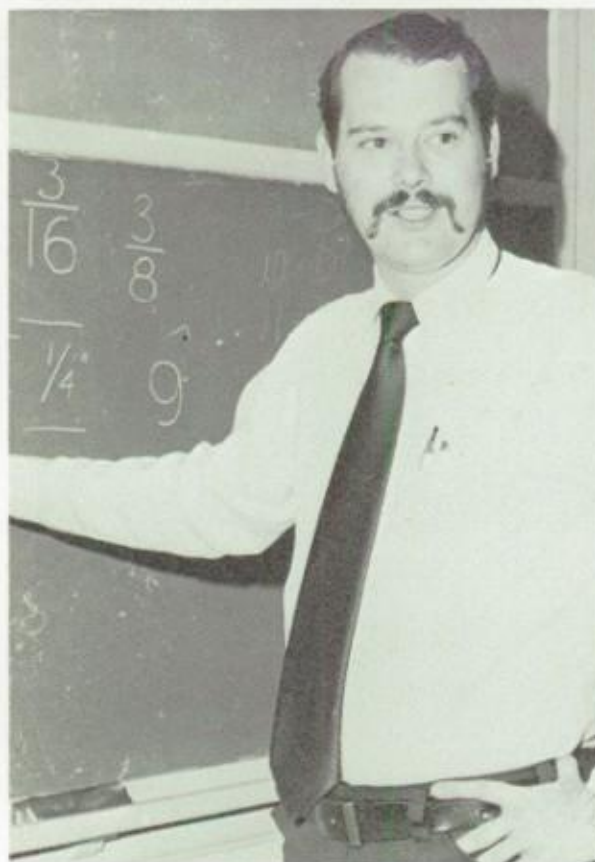

Dale Green (top) assists Tim Pierce in the completion of a drafting problem.

Frank Cothren (center) demonstrates drafting techniques.

Spanish: A Beginning In World Communication

New things are happening in the Spanish Department here at East Wilkes. Mr. Middleton is the director, and many new ideas have been introduced. Contracts, individualized study, and projects are only a few of these. Spanish opens the imaginary gateway to world communication. Mr. Middleton has succeeded in making Spanish a very interesting class. Both Spanish I and Spanish II students enjoy it very much. Also, a great addition to the East Wilkes Spanish Department was Miss Fanny Gaona, a Spanish Exchange Student.

Mr. Paul Middleton (top) completes the correction of Spanish papers.

Student's Dream: To Pass Driver Ed.

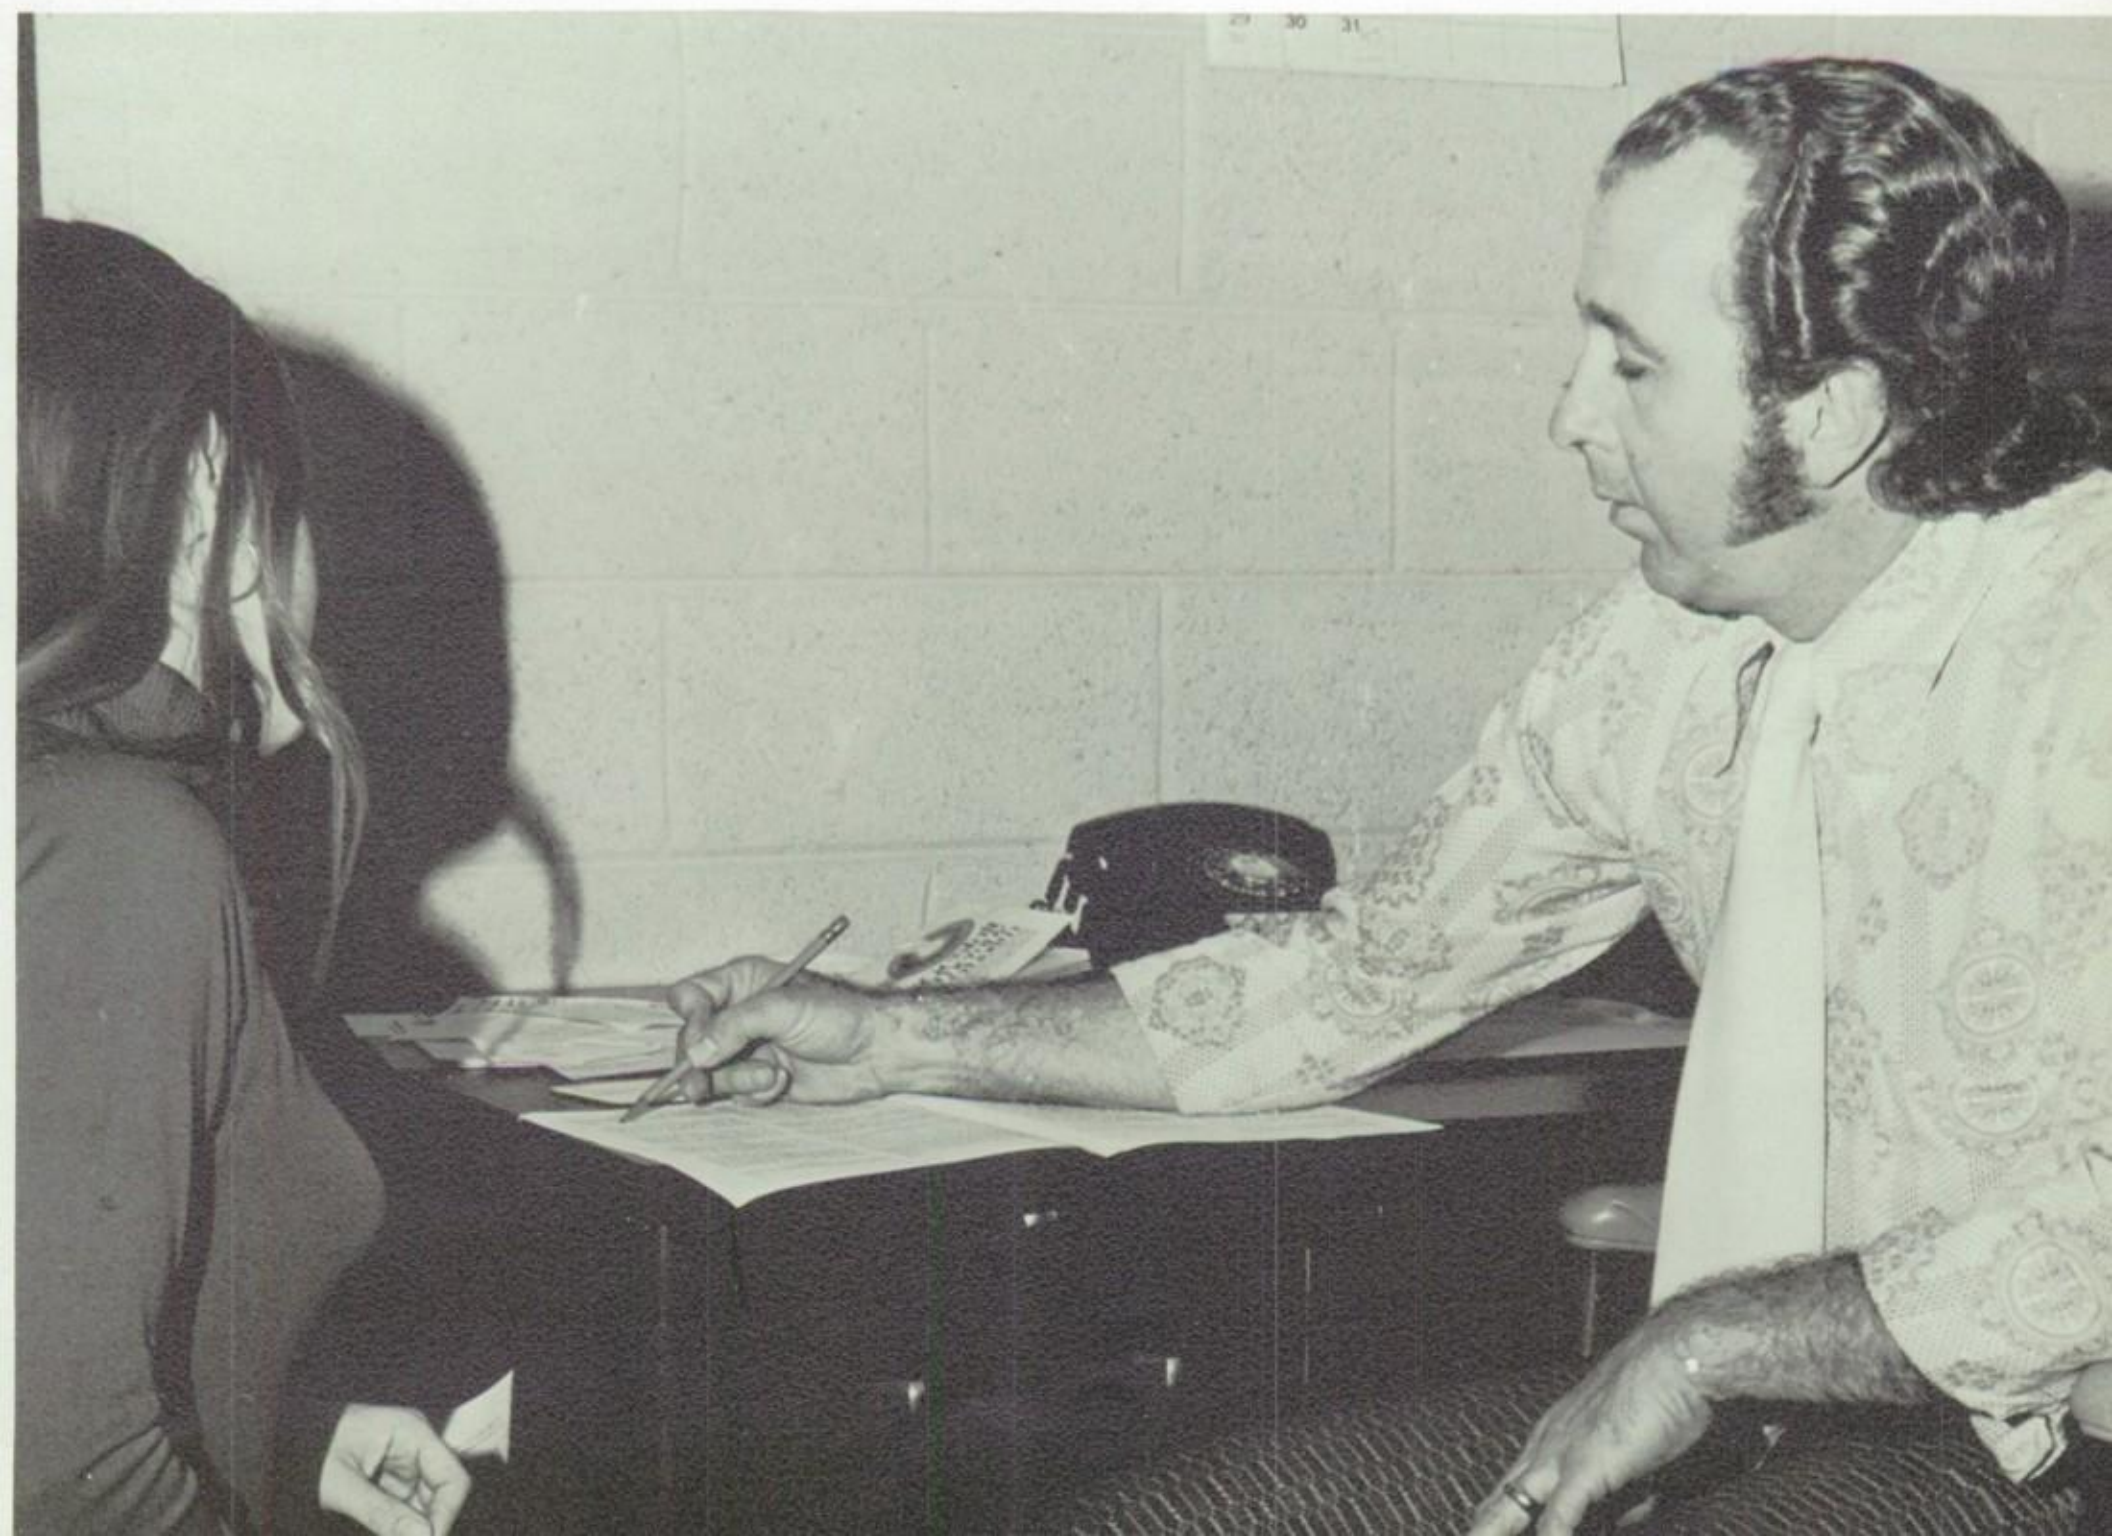

"Defensive driving!" Those are the key words to remember. Through the guidance of Mr. Bill Whittington, students are taught the laws and regulations of the highway. After a few weeks of training, they prepare to take the wheel. They work many hours on the road, and at the driving range. Capable young defensive drivers are the outcome of this class.

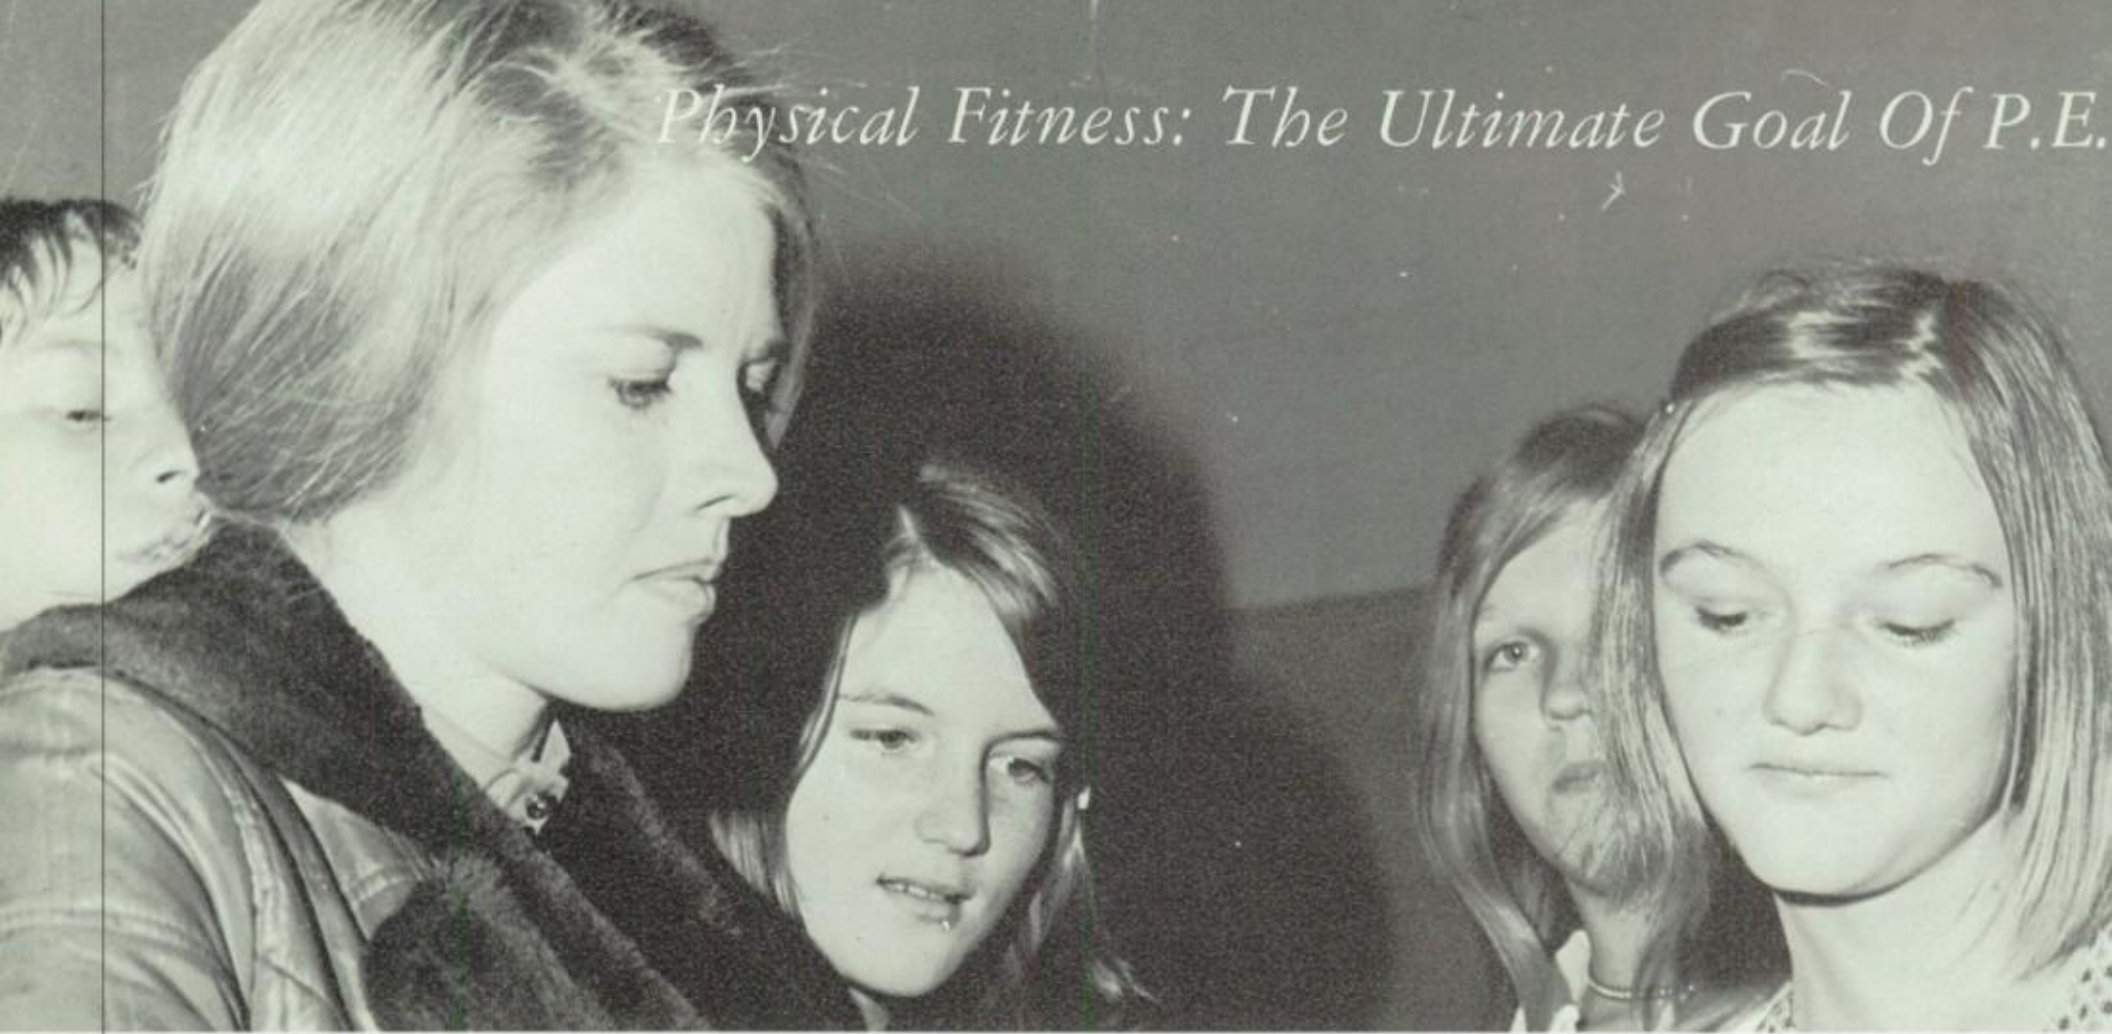

Mr. Cain: Friend And Advisor

Problems? Mr. Sloan Cain is always willing to help. He may not have all the answers, but he is always ready to listen. Mr. Cain is known as a friend to all students. He listens to personal problems, school problems, and even problems concerning the future. His job is especially important to juniors and seniors. This is a time when they need special understanding and guidance. It is a time when they must make decisions that will greatly influence their later life. With this individual, students receive strength, support, friendship, respect, leadership, and most of all guidance.

Physical Fitness: The Ultimate Goal Of P.E.

Being physically fit means having a healthy body and a healthy mind. Coach Ronald Bray, Coach Jim Wilmoth, and Mrs. Aletta Johnson make physical education a combination of exercise, activity, game fundamentals, and sportsmanship. They encourage students to become interested in extracurricular athletics. The individual interest of these instructors makes P.E. both educational and enjoyable. Students and teachers working together make our P.E. program a successful one.

Janet White (bottom) demonstrates the correct tumbling techniques.

New Happenings In Math And English

New things are happening in Science and Math here at East. Miss Smoak has created ideas to capture the interest of students. These students play mathematical games that deal with equations and geometric patterns, and do English related projects, such as reading newspapers, magazines, and completing puzzles. Many students who aren't satisfied with the ordinary English courses participate in this program of Math X and English X. Special emphasis is placed upon the individual wishes of the students. This course is both educational and fun, and is enjoyed greatly by all.

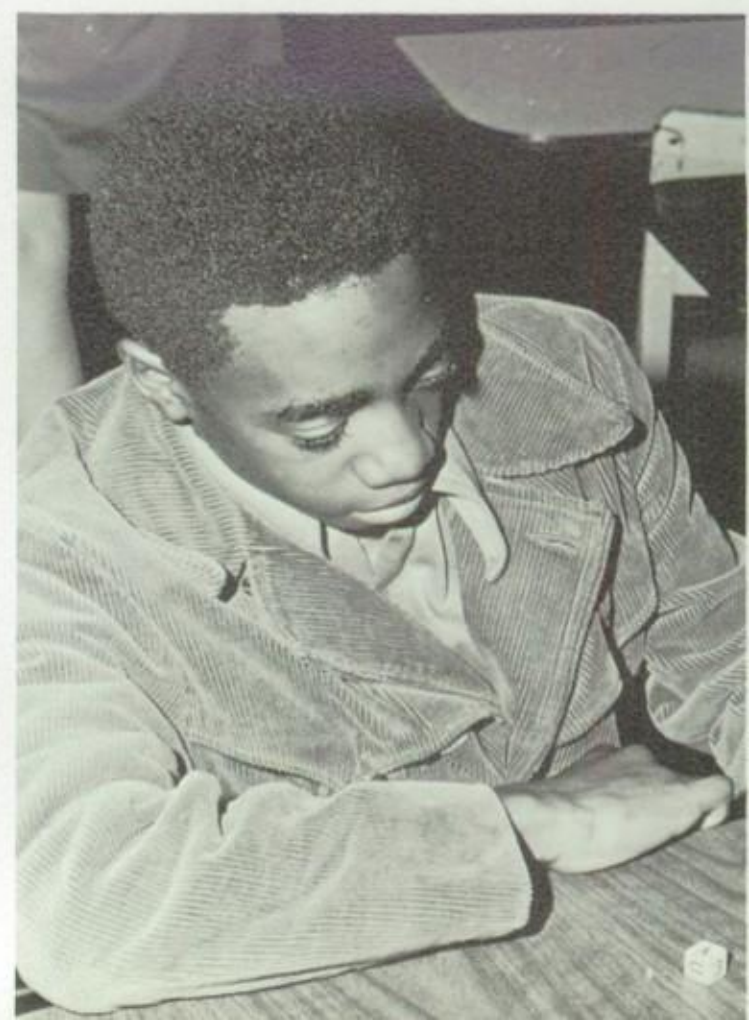

Students (top) learn the use of words through games.

Current events (center) can be both interesting and educational.

John Allen finds a better way to learn new words (far right).

D.E. Students Encounter A Working Experience

The cooperative program in Distributive Education trains young men and women for careers in distributive businesses — wholesale, retail, and services. This plan combines part-time work experience with practical school instruction so that upon graduation these young people will be well qualified employees and useful citizens.

Through combined school instruction, training, and careful supervision the best qualities of students are developed. Both students and employers benefit from this program.

Mr. Jack Nixon (top) and Judy Taylor discuss the qualities of good salesmanship.

Vocational Students Look Ahead By Training For The Future

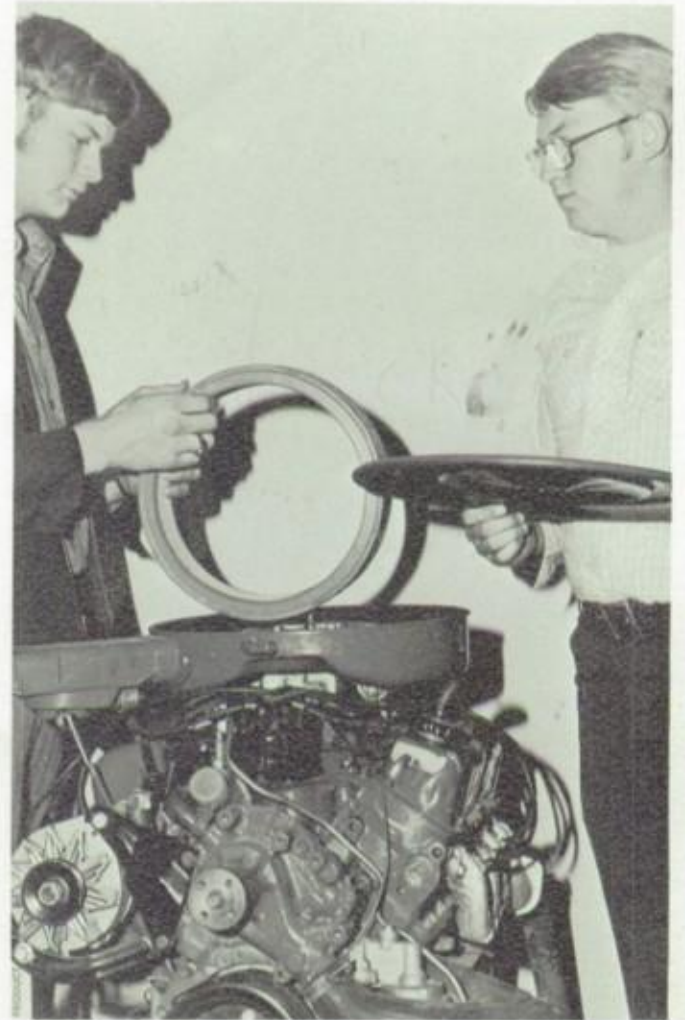

What am I going to do after high school graduation? This is a question presently asked by many students. This is one of the purposes for which the vocational school was designed. It teaches the student a vocational skill which he may apply to his later life. In this program, the students attend school for a portion of the day and then attend the vocational center for training. This helps to prepare the student for the skills he may someday try to perform after completing his training at the vocational center.

Vocational school is one of the greatest programs offered at East. Many students take advantage of this program each year.

A New Era In Extra-Curricular Activities

The East Wilkes Community School is directed by Mr. Joe Allred. Many courses that interest everyone are offered. Each quarter a variety of new courses are added. Most of these classes are taught after school hours at East Wilkes. The services of the community school are not only available to East Wilkes students, but to anyone who wishes to participate.

Aides Lend A Helping Hand

Who helps all the teachers to complete all the wearisome tasks of making out tests, grading papers, and all those things? Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Middleton, and Mrs. Potts, that's who! They are our aides here at East. Our faculty just couldn't be complete without them. These ladies assist all teachers in any way possible, from creating bulletin boards to conducting classes at times. These aides are not only a great help to the teachers but to the students also. Many thanks!

The East Wilkes aides for this year are Mrs. Brenda Cook, Mrs. Aletta Johnson, Mrs. Tammy Middleton, and Mrs. Jennifer Potts.

Essential Tasks Are Performed By Personnel

It takes much time and hard work to keep a campus running smoothly and effectively. This is the purpose of our lunchroom personnel and custodians. These people do a marvelous job of completing their tasks. East couldn't go on without the service that they render. We realize their efforts and wish to express our gratitude.

Mrs. Crowell (top left) performs her daily task of collecting lunch money.

Mr. Bauguess and Mr. Holbrook are the two men at East on the go (left).

The clubs at East Wilkes have engaged in many activities which enrich the lives of each student and the school. Some clubs extend our studies outside the classroom, while others simply add fun to school life. All give us a chance to work with our fellow students, building our feeling of unity and school spirit.

Everyone at East Wilkes worked on a common fund-raising project — selling candy. Approximately $4,000 worth was sold, and each organization received a part of the proceeds to carry on its activities. Students also enjoy dances sponsored by clubs for fund-raising purposes.

Our students may become members of any of the following organizations: The East Wind Staff, Library Club, Future Homemakers of America, Future Farmers of America, Future Business Leaders of America, Beta Club, Student Council, Chess Club, Future Scientists of America, Bus Drivers' Club, Spanish Club, Future Teachers of America, Deca Club, Monogram Club, Intramural Club, Chorus, and Band.

1973 Annual Staff

A dog's life!
(Betty Jo and Terry, Typists)

Putting out an annual is no easy job, as anyone who has observed the annual staff on the day of a deadline will agree. Danny and Rusty can be seen going up the hall with a camera, and dashing to the dark room to develop the film. Lynn and Kathy are trying to make the number of pages come out with the contract. Beth and Susan are attempting to write "inspired" copy. Melody and Jennifer can't seem to find a name for that face in a pile-up on the football field. Nancy and Teresa are searching for the hundred names left off the student directory. Brenda and Faye are working to satisfy our advertisers. Toni and Belva are putting each picture in its allotted space. Betty Jo and Terry are tapping away at the typewriters. And through an amazing amount of patience and experience, Mrs. Layell, in the middle of all this confusion, is not screaming.

Produces Best East Wind Ever

After loads of work and frustration, hundreds of headaches — and a lot of laughs, the 1973 East Wind Staff has produced another masterpiece.

Producing an annual is, at times, a frustrating experience.

SPORTS

The Athletic Department at East Wilkes is growing in size and enthusiasm. We have several new coaches again this year, who have brought with them new ideas and means of coaching.

East has had a good year in sports. The highlight, of course, being the basketball season; in which the Cardinals won the regular season championship and in addition went on to win the conference tournament.

School support is definitely an asset to all teams in various sports. East Wilkes has proved they are completely behind their athletic program with their unfailing spirit and enthusiasm.

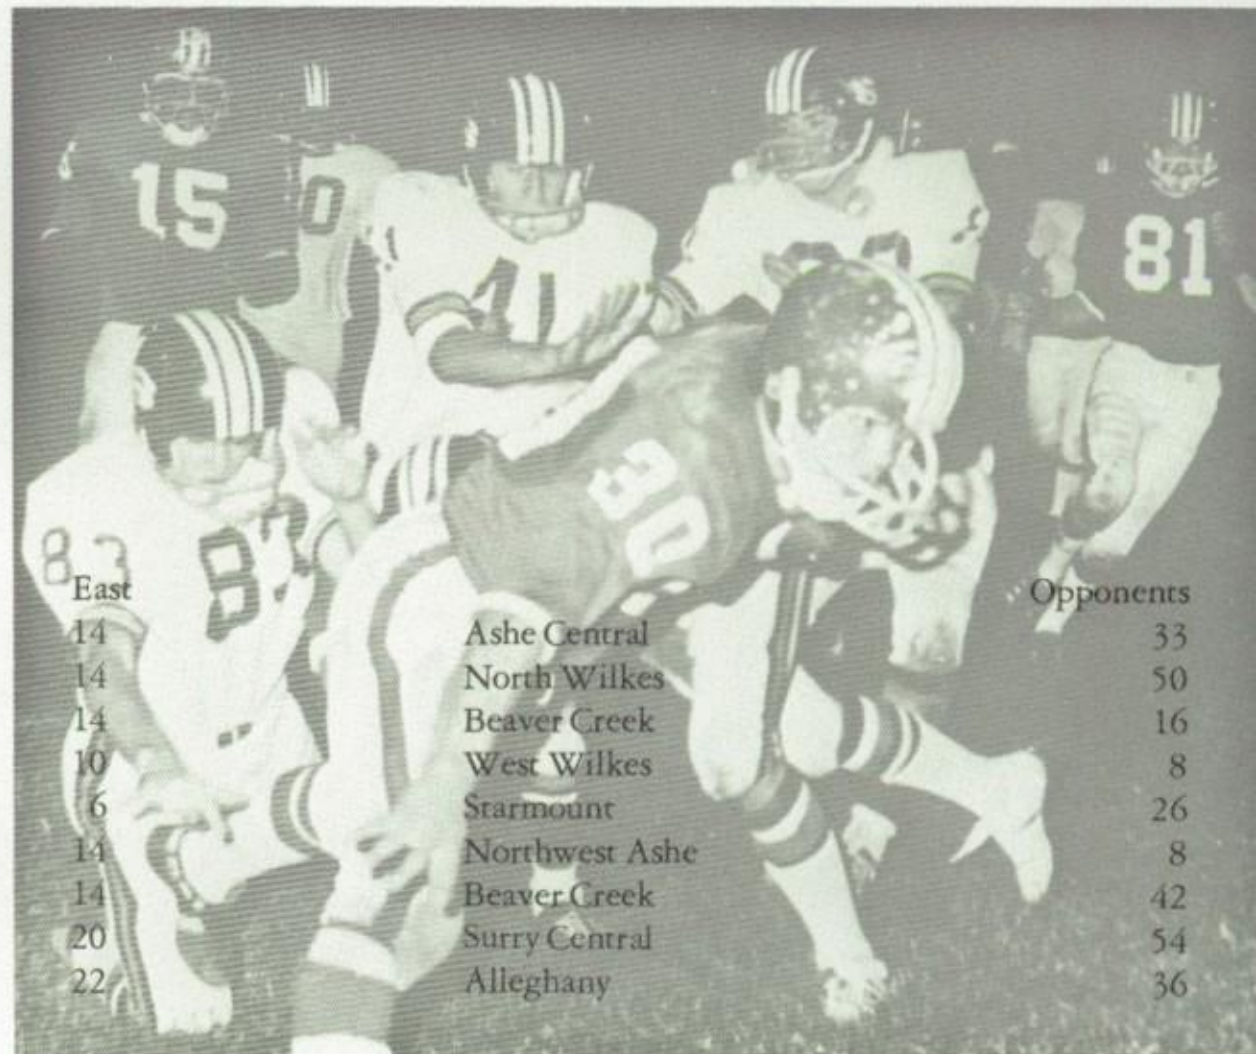

Cards Faced Season With Confidence and Determination

The East Wilkes Cardinals, under new head coach, Ronald Bray, began their third season on the varsity level and were picked to finish last in the District 7AA — Northern Division. Their 2-4 conference record was good for a tie for third place. The Cardinals were 2-7 overall for the 1972 football season.

The East Wilkes football team was led by Senior end, Marty Rhymer. He caught 38 passes for 697 yards and made 5 touchdowns. Rhymer also led the team on defense with 57 tackles and 3 interceptions from his safety position.

Other boys having a good year were: Senior, Tom Hackett — Tackle; Junior, Larry Martin — Captain and Halfback; Junior, Bill Hunt — Quarterback.

The Track team, under the supervision of Bill Harrold, finished third in the conference this season. For most of the boys, it was their first season with exception of four lettermen, Tim Pierce, Larry Holyfield, Steve Garriss, and Eric Redding. These young men displayed spirit and enthusiasm all season regardless of losses. With the gained experience of the underclassmen, East should have an excellent team next season with sixteen men returning from this team.

Look Back

ONLY PEOPLE

Now in our annual we come to the section of people — Only People — the ingredients that make up East Wilkes and what it will or will not be. Each one of us carries the responsibility of making East what we want it to be. It is not enough just to talk about what we want at East, but we must work together to achieve our goals. Also, we should possess a sense of pride in being a student here.

We have looked at the activities that we, here at East, have taken part in during this great year of 1972-73. The following pages contain the profiles of the people involved in these activities.

HONORS

Each year a few students prove themselves to be outstanding in various ways. These students are recognized with honors in their outstanding fields.

Eight students with advisor, Mr. Harold Johnson, participated in two United Nations Simulations, one at Appalachian State University, and the other at the University of Jacksonville, Jacksonville, Florida.

The Babe Ruth Awards are presented to a boy and girl who have displayed excellent sportsmanship and a good attitude toward athletics throughout the year. Our coaching staff chooses these people.

The DAR Award is presented to a girl, chosen by the faculty on the basis of her patriotism, character, leadership, and academics.

The Optimist Award is presented by the local Optimist Club to a student for his citizenship.

The Betty Crocker Homemaker Award is presented to the senior girl who scores highest on a test, based on her home economics knowledge, skill, and attitudes.

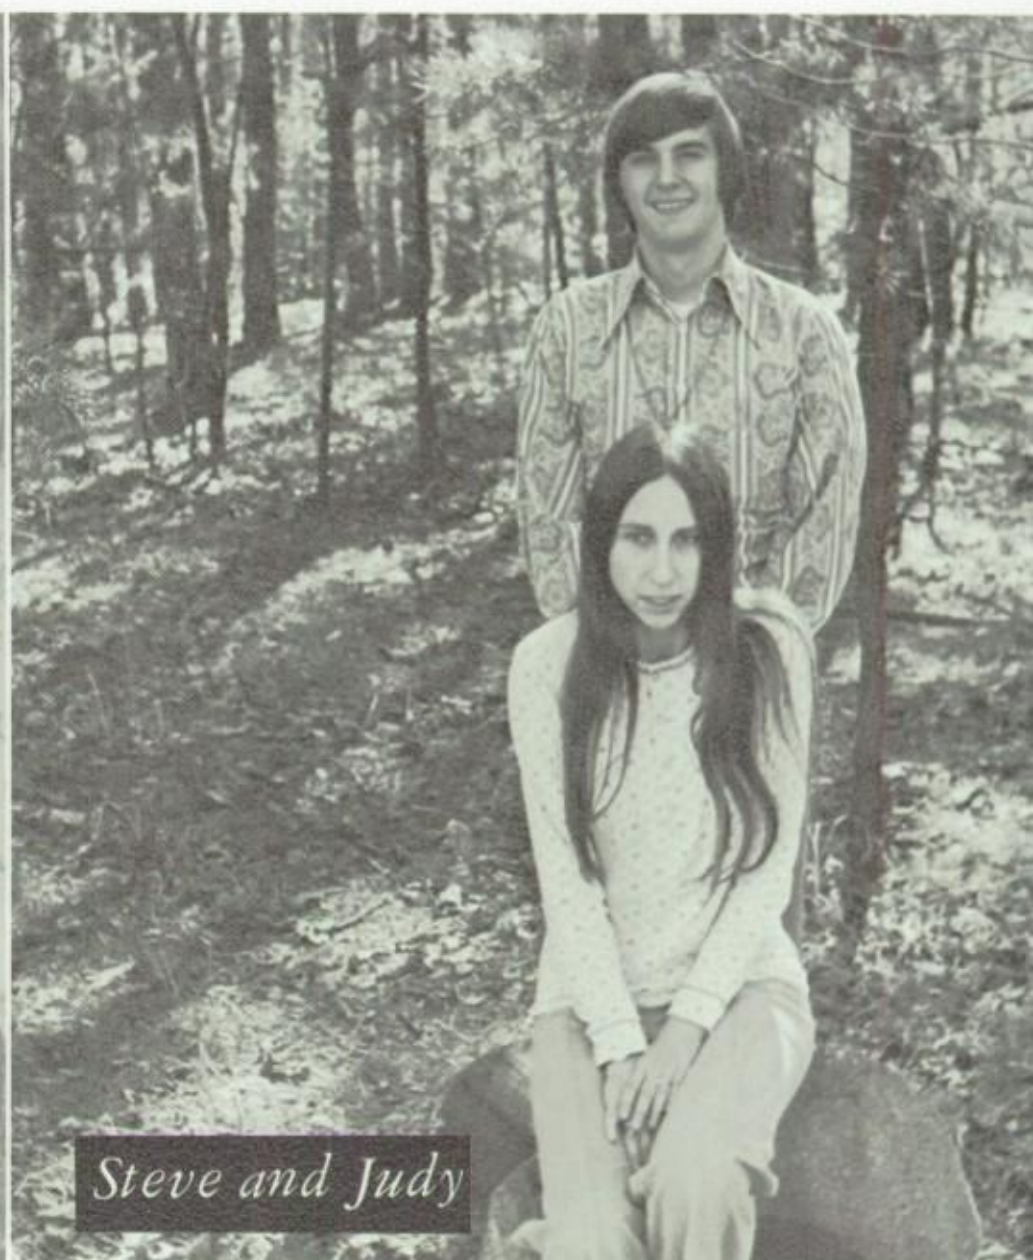

These students spend a lot of time and effort to achieve these honors. We would like to commend them for their efforts.

Nominated first by the teachers and then chosen by their classmates, these students were picked to be the sixteen Outstanding Seniors. They were chosen on the basis of their school spirit, friendliness, helpfulness, honesty, and leadership. They were chosen by their peers, and felt that receiving this award was a great honor.

Seniors Honored As The Top Twelve

East's 1973 Junior Miss

Becky Layell was chosen to represent East Wilkes High School in the Tri-County Junior Miss Pageant held at Dixon Auditorium. She was chosen because of her talent, personality, high scholastic average, and beauty.

Girls Prove To Be Outstanding In Home Ec.

Many girls received Home Economics Awards this year. Lynn Welborn (left) won the Betty Crocker Award and was one of the top 25 in the state.

Kathleen and Jennifer McCann (below) are to be awarded their State Degree this year. Sherry Combs, Belva Billings (bottom), and Judy Stone (not pictured) will also receive their State Degrees in FHA.

Have We Got Awards For You!!!

Because of his outgoing personality and friendliness,
Lynn Hoots was chosen to receive the Optimist Award.

Betty Jo West, our DAR winner, spends much of her time working in the office.

Nancy Murray and Thomas Hackett received the Babe Ruth
Sportsmanship Award because of their great school spirit.

Top Juniors Are Chosen As Marshals

The ten students who had the highest scholastic average of the Junior class were chosen to be marshals at the 1972 graduation. The marshals (top) are as follows: (left to right) Beth Walker, Brenda Norman, Debbie Ward, Lela Boles, Betty Jo West, Lynn Welborn, (second row) Nathan Couch, Dale Lyon, Reggie Greenwood, and Stephen Harris.

Each year eight Seniors and eight Juniors meet before school starts to sell ads for the East Wind. They put a lot of hard work into selling these ads. Annual Staff members stop everywhere while trying to sell ads. During all this, they manage to have a lot of fun while getting together for a few days.

After the ads are sold the work has just begun. Long hours of toil are a part of being on the Annual Staff. Each member puts in many hours of hard work. There is the layout to be drawn, pictures to be taken, copy to write, and much more. Before a deadline everyone is very busy. After the annual is finished, everyone takes a well deserved break. When the annuals finally arrive, staff members know it was worth all the work and worry.

A man once said that there are two statements which hold true for human beings — they are all different, and they are all the same. At East everyone is the same in that we are all interested in some of the same things. We go to the same classes, we eat in the same cafeteria, we belong to the same clubs, yell for the same number one team, laugh at the same things, cry about the same things, and work toward the same goals.

Yet each of us is different — an individual who is like no one else in the world. We come from different homes, in different communities. We dress differently, like different things, and experience radically different feelings. Some of us will go from here to college, others to jobs, some may hitch hike cross country, and others will get married. While we work here together, everyone being alike, we respect the individuality of each person, knowing that he is a person.

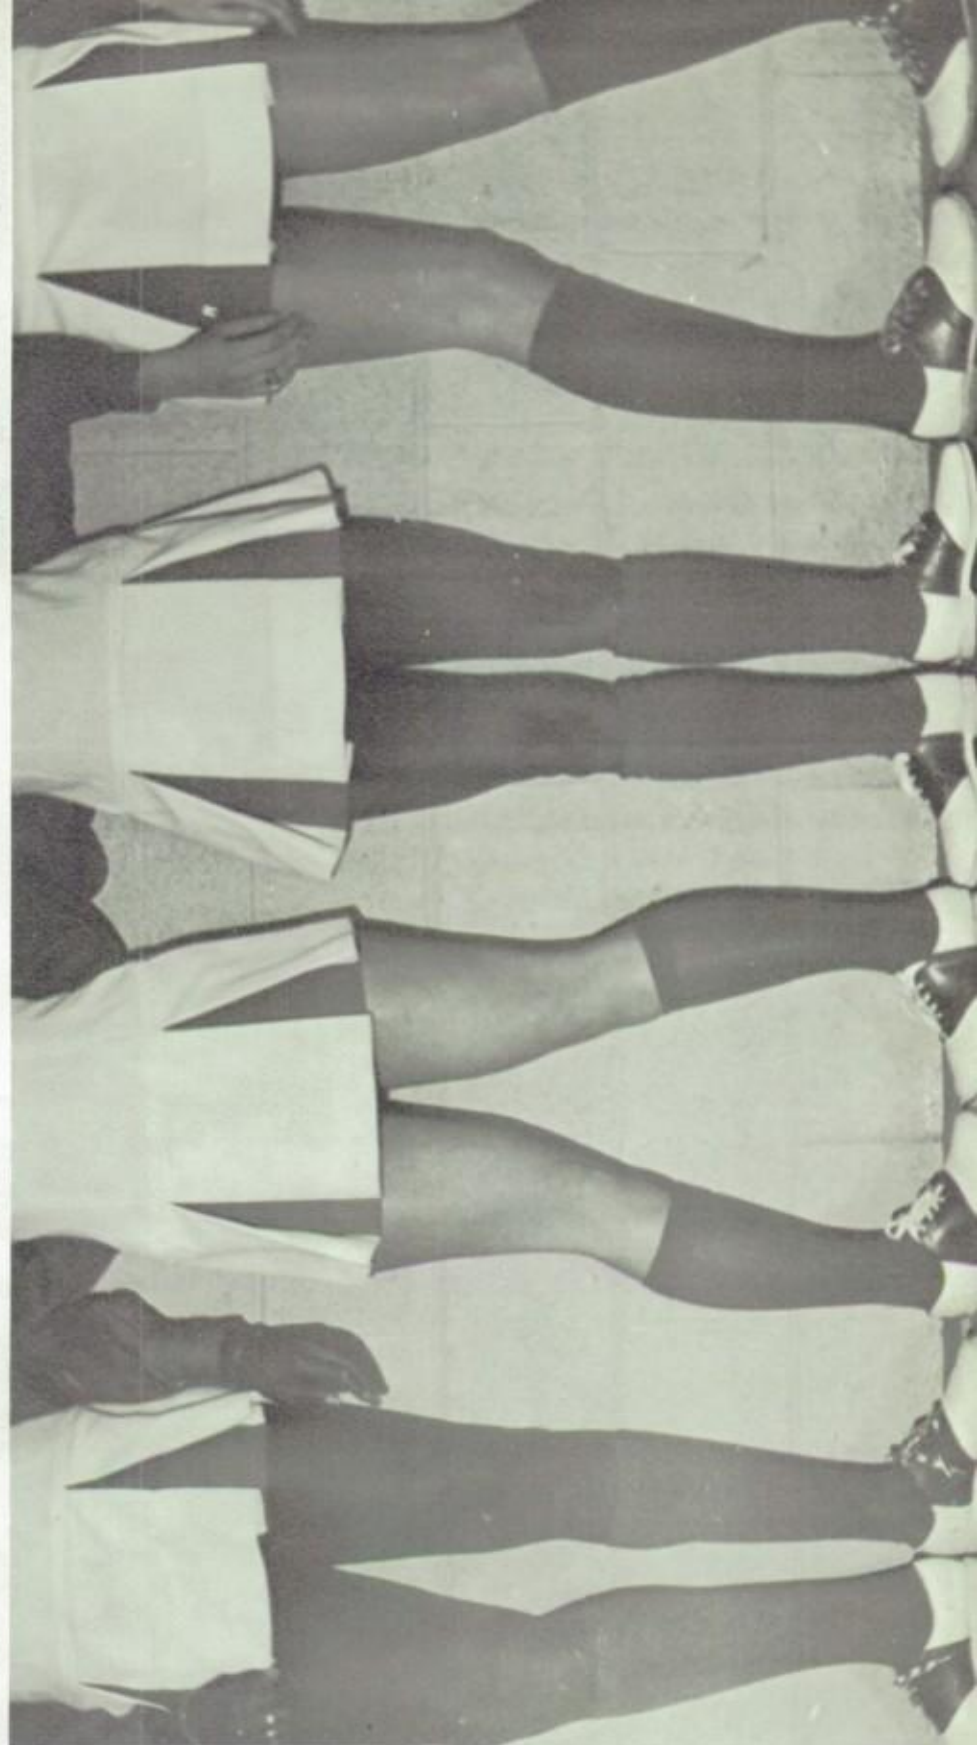

INDIVIDUALISM

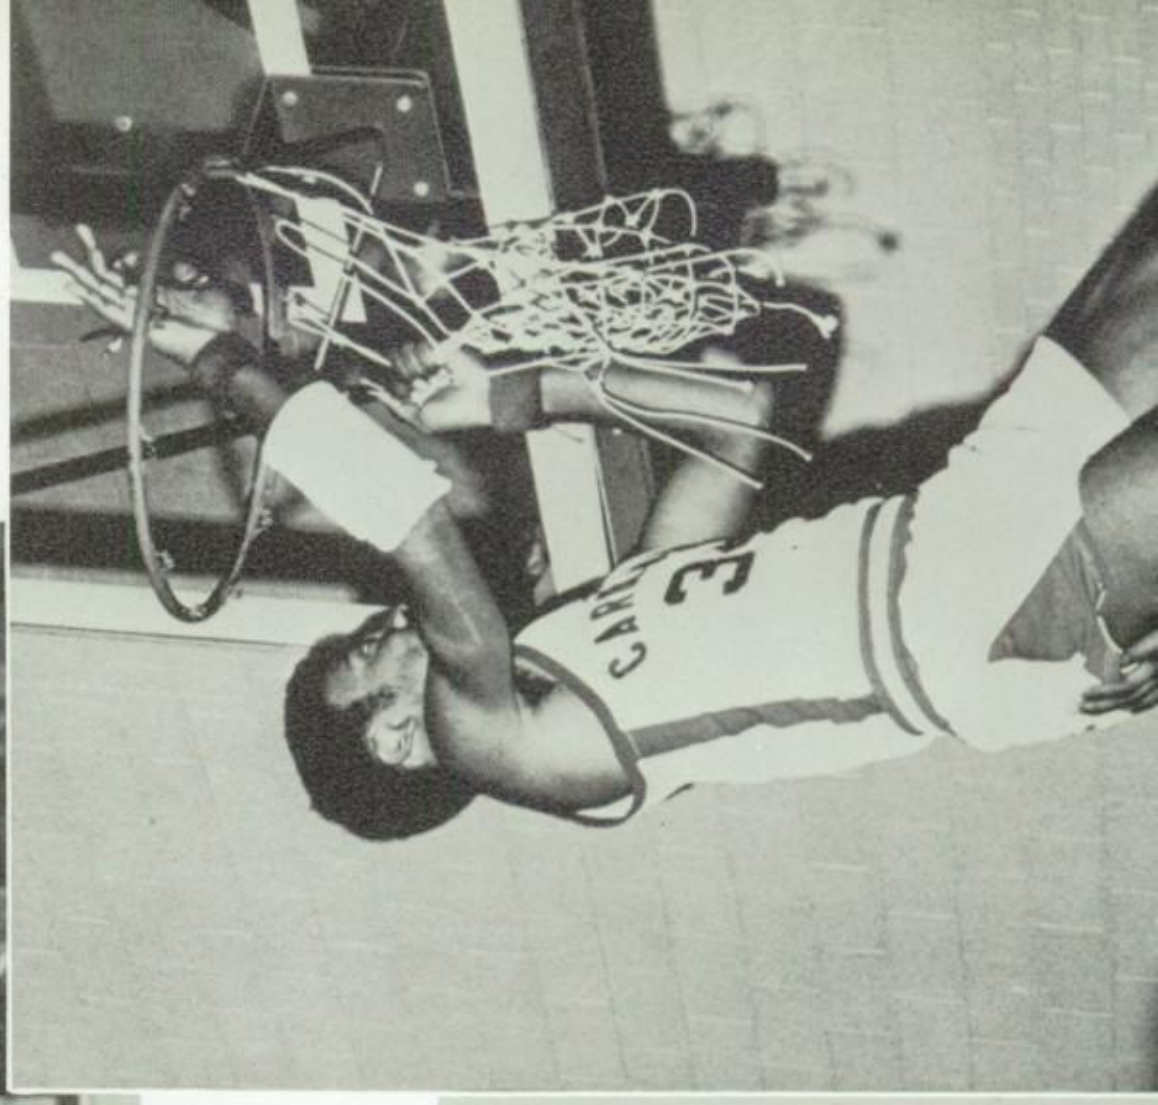

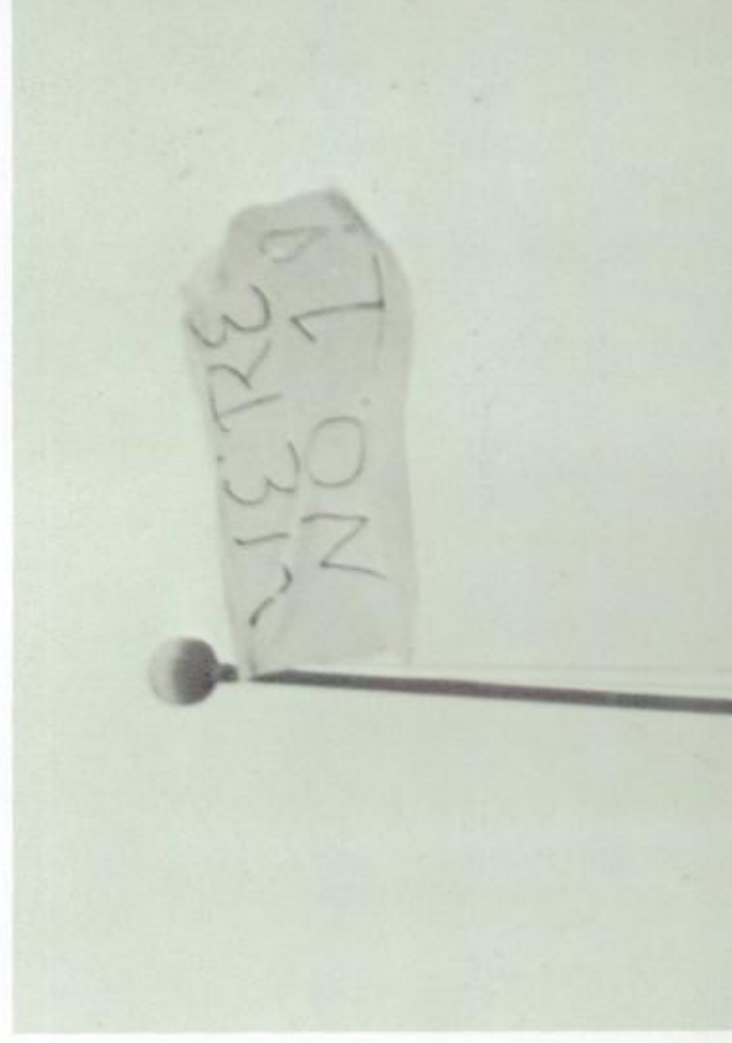

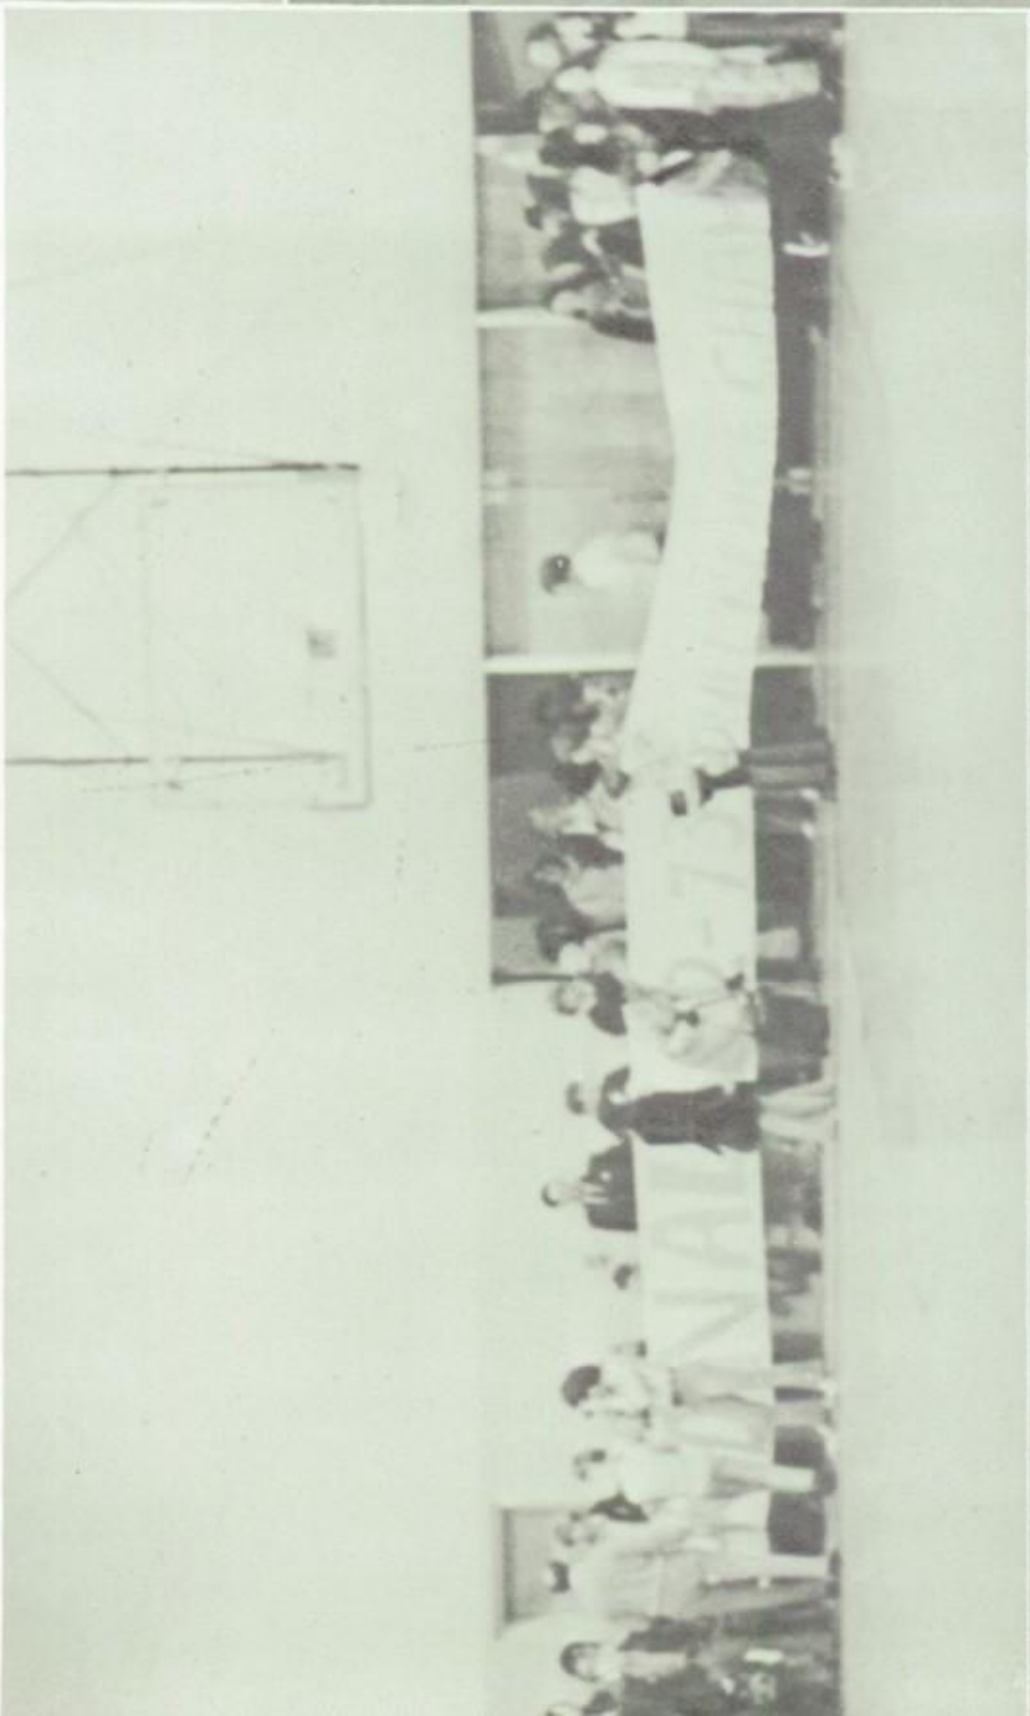

Laugh A Little!!

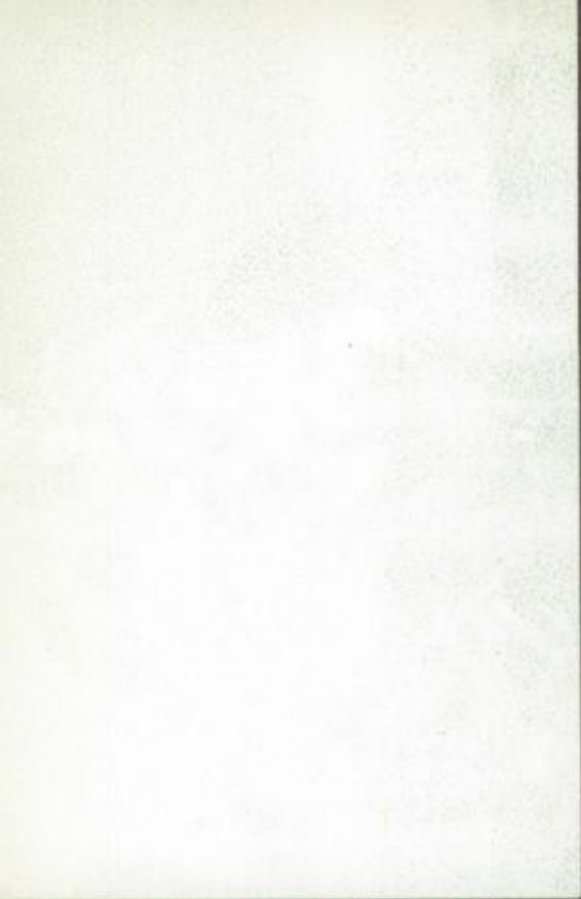

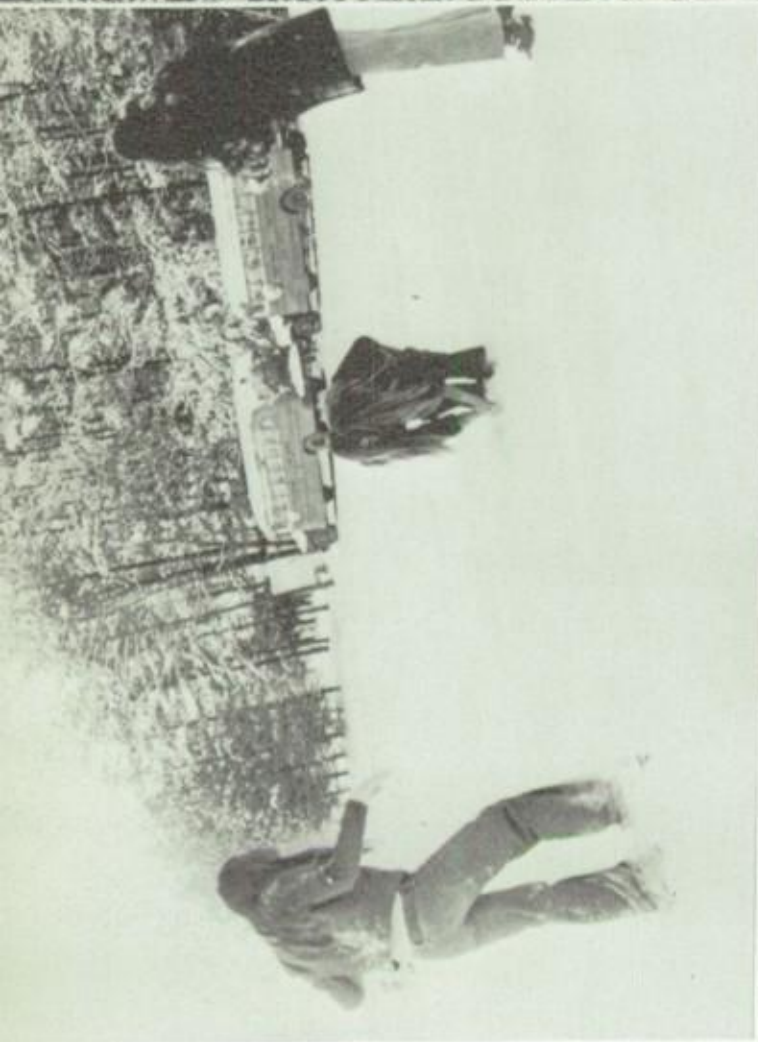

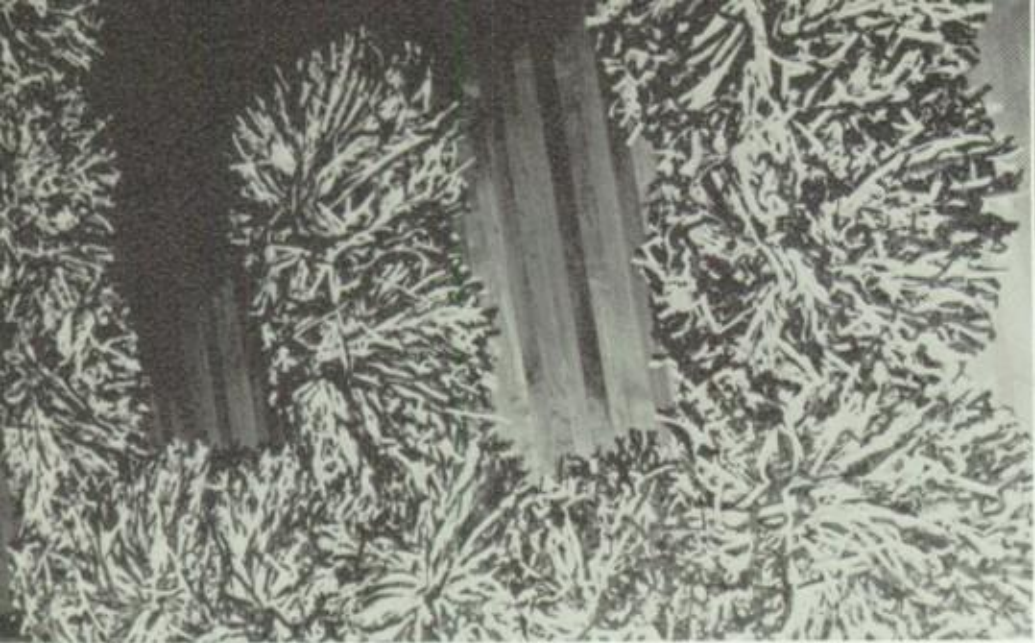

We're No. 1!!!!

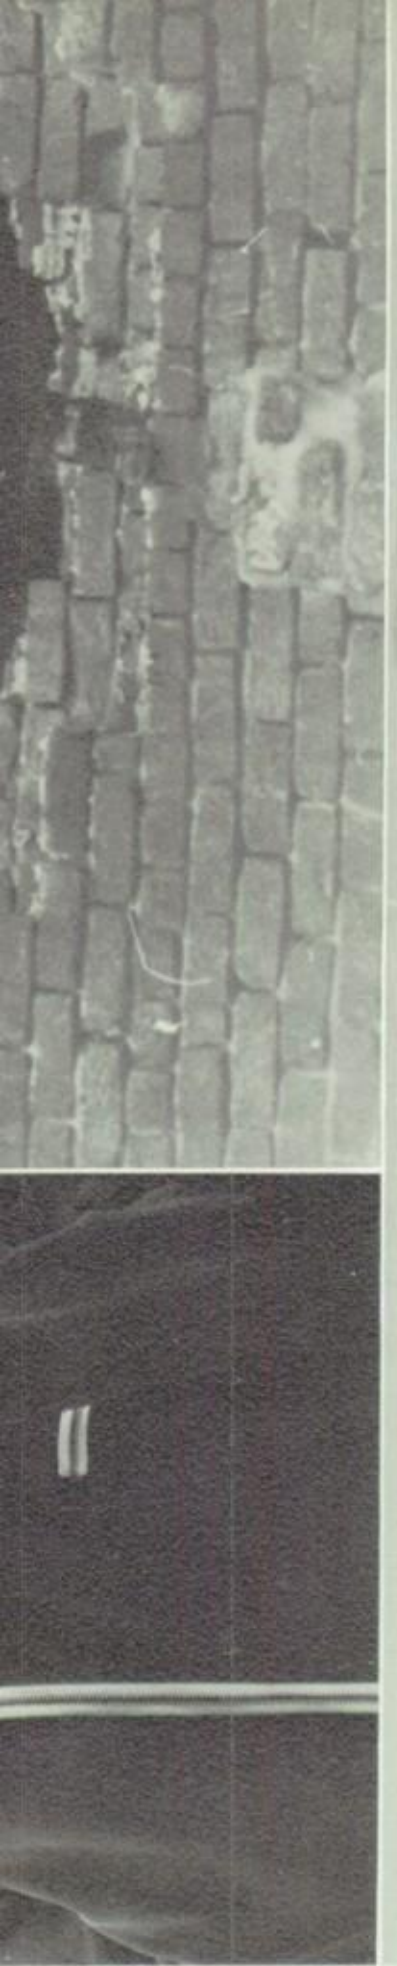

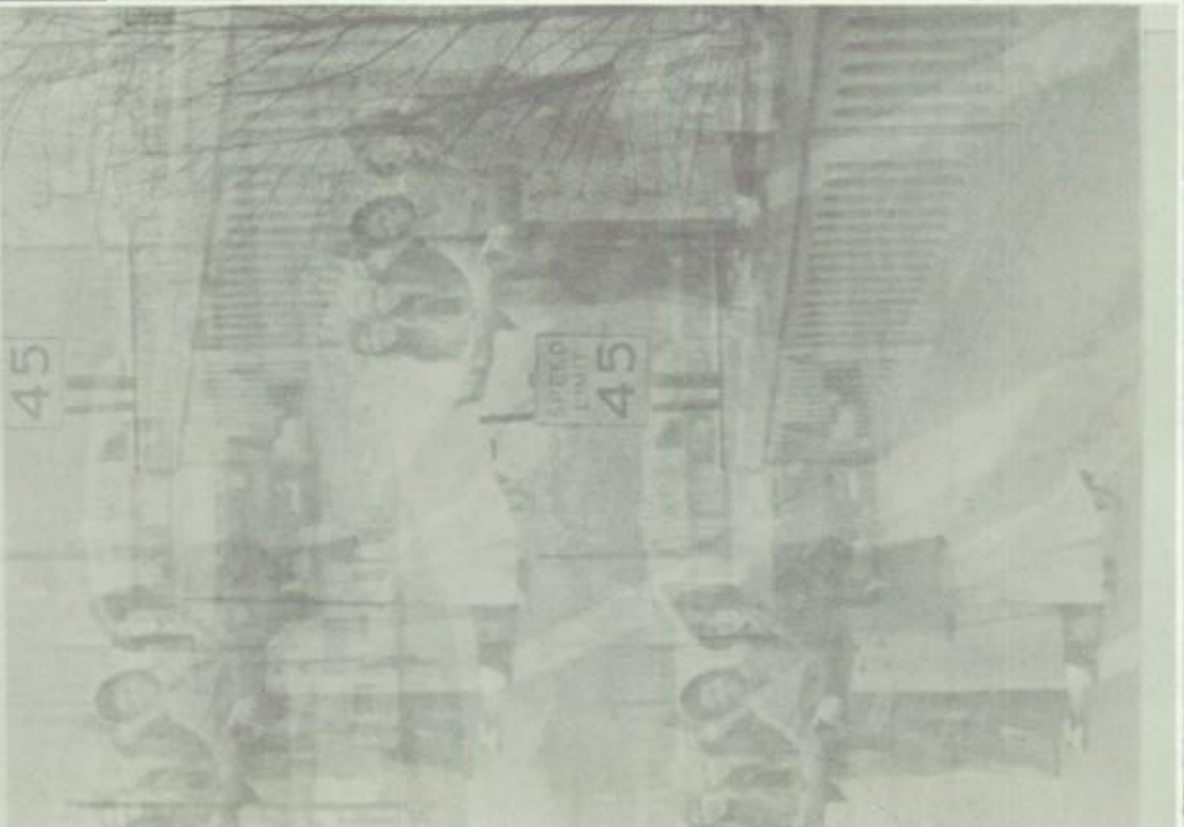

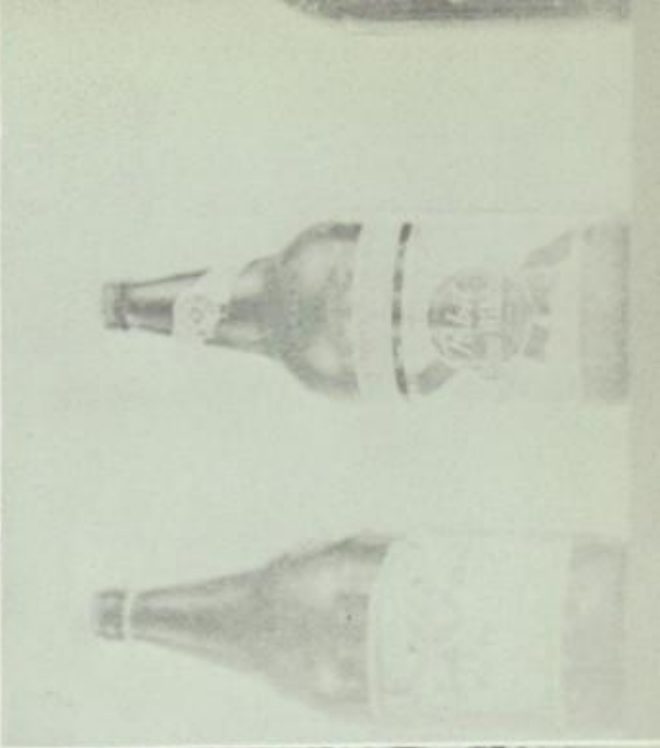

We, along with other members of the Annual Staff, would like to express our appreciation to Danny Mathis and Rusty Transon for all the many long hard hours spent taking pictures and working in the dark room
